

You Are Invited to Attend: Bridging the Treatment Gaps for Patients with Mental Health and Substance Use Disorders – Communication is Key!

This training is for physicians, medical staff, mental health and substance use disorder therapists and other community providers on the appropriate identification, management and referral of patients with mental health and substance use disorder issues. Evidence-based communications skills will be emphasized, as a first line treatment for patients with these conditions.

Keynote Speaker: Elizabeth Morrison, LCSW, MAC

An accomplished trainer, therapist, consultant, and integrated behavioral health expert, Elizabeth Morrison specializes in helping health care providers improve their communication, integrate behavioral health practices, and improves the patient and employee experience. Elizabeth's expertise in integrated behavioral health is grounded in her twelve-year career as a clinician and clinic director. She is currently one of the thought leaders in the integrated behavioral health field, and has served on integrated care advisory boards for the UCSF School of Medicine and the California Institute for Behavioral Health Services.
